I have been considering on taking a career path in research and this trip would be an amazing opportunity to help me gain the relevant experience needed to boost my CV. I have also been striving for Duke of Edinburgh Gold Award and in order to achieve it, I need to complete a section, called the 'Residential'. This involves spending at least 5 days away from home on a shared activity with people I have never met. Therefore, getting a place in this field trip would mean that I could complete my residential.

I would try my best to motivate children at schools to achieve new skills such as basic first aid. I have been volunteering with the St. John's ambulance for the past three years and I could teach them what I have learnt as a certified first aider. Similarly, I could also organise an awareness programme with a team to help raise awareness about the pros and cons of maintaining a good hygiene. I could help them improve their literacy/numeracy and IT skills as I did ICT (AS level) and Maths (AS and A2 level) in college. I have also been working as a band 3 care support worker for people with mental disability and I have been MAPA trained.

I can teach children how to dance as I enjoy dancing. I have been very fond of it since I was in school and I have taken part in many competitions and summer courses. I am also creative with arts and origami and I could teach little children paper crafts and drawings. Meeting new people and adapting to a different place and culture could help transform me into a better person. This trip is an excellent opportunity to all students to improve their skills and gain new experience and I would be very thankful if I get a place on this trip.
